

A Tiger and A Leopard

A tiger and a leopard came together to hunt for food. After a great effort and much sweat they caught a young buck. When it came to sharing the caught young buck they started to argue.

Both were ferocious. The argument became so bad that they attacked each other and a great tussle followed. They scratched and bit each other. With their sharp teeth and poking claws both of them became wounded badly. Finally, after much fighting the two of them became exhausted and they sat away from each other.

Just then a fox, who was quietly watching the whole fight came sneakily, took the young buck and was gone. The two powerful cats were so tired that they did not have any strength left to stop the sly fox from taking their prey.

When the fox disappeared with the prey the tiger and the leopard became very ashamed at their silly fight.

*When a person is not in control of his fury
He harms his body and his money*

Qur'aan

“Obey Allah and the Rasool and do not fight amongst yourselves, otherwise you will fall badly and your power will be lost.” (Surah Anfaal, 46)

Hadeeth

“Beware! Don't let your relationships with each other become bad, for it is a blade...It will make your Deen bleed.”
